Dear Carol,

Through NYU Precollege, rising juniors and seniors have the opportunity to spend part of their summer on NYU's campus in the heart of New York City. For six dynamic and inspiring weeks, high schoolers can prepare for their academic futures by taking for-credit college-level courses, developing their writing skills, and learning how to manage their time, all while experiencing what it's like to be a student at NYU.

Here's how NYU Precollege will set your students on a path to success:

- They will examine their current passions in courses aligned with their potential major and road test new ones by exploring novel topics and ideas while earning college credit they can apply toward their future degree.
- On our campus in New York City's Greenwich Village—where there's so much to discover and do every day—they'll become part of a bold, diverse community and gain new perspectives on the world and themselves.
- With New York City at their doorsteps, they'll have every opportunity to cultivate their independence and build their confidence in one of the world's most vibrant cities.
- Through the College 101 workshop series, they'll prepare for the admissions process.

Our summer 2023 NYU Precollege program runs from July 5 to August 16, 2023.

The program application deadline for international students is March 17. For scholarship consideration, students should submit their scholarship application well before the April 1 deadline, and June 15 is the final program application deadline for domestic students.

In addition to NYU Precollege, students have access to more than 60 different high school programs offered throughout the year at NYU, which extends them the flexibility to find the program that fits their needs and schedule. They can spend a weekend, an entire semester, or almost any length of time in between exploring subjects like music technology at the Steinhardt School of Culture, Education, and Human Development; machine learning at the Tandon School of Engineering; and constitutional law at the School of Law.
